

ROOSEVELT WINS BARNES LIBEL SUIT

After Standing 11 to 1 in His Favor for Many Hours, the Jury Agrees on a Verdict of No Cause of Action—Failure to Agree Sooner Was on a Question of Costs.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Syracuse, May 22.—Theodore Roosevelt today won the $50,000 libel suit brought against him by William Barnes of Albany, former New York Republican state chairman. The jury after being out more than 40 hours came into court at 10:07 a. m. "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?" asked Clerk Clark. "We have," said Foreman Somers. "What is your verdict, Mr. Foreman?" asked Clerk. "We find for the defendant," said Somers. The court room immediately was in a buzz of excitement regardless of the fact that Justice Andrews just before the jury came in had admonished the spectators that regardless of the jury's verdict either for Barnes or Roosevelt, there should be no demonstration. The jury was polled by request of Foreman Somers. As on yesterday eleven of the men said they found for the defendant. When Clerk Clark reached juror No. 11, Edward Burns, the Syracuse motorman, the spectators held their breaths. Burns was the man who on yesterday "spilled the beans" by declaring himself for Barnes—unless the court costs were split. "I find for the defendant," said Burns. Immediately the jurors exchanged glances and there was an audible sigh of relief from every person in the court room. The poll being completed, Justice Andrews accepted the verdict for Colonel Roosevelt and thanked the jurors for their five weeks of service. Colonel Roosevelt shook hands with John M. Bowers, his chief counsel and then with the rest of his legal battery and the scores of Syracuse women and men who crowded to the rail to congratulate him. Barnes was represented in court only by Henry Felix Wolff of William M. Ivins' office and W. L. Barnum, his local counsel. Just before the jury was called at 10:05 Wolff moved that a mistrial be ordered because of the public polling of the jury on yesterday. The secrets of the jury room had been violated," said Wolff, "and we ask a mistrial." "Motion denied," said Justice Andrews, and the jury was called in. After Somers said: "We find for the defendant," and the 12 good men and true were polled, Wolff made the formal motion that the verdict be set aside. "Motion denied," said Justice Andrews. And the five weeks' $50,000 libel suit was consigned to the limbo of history. Colonel Roosevelt immediately asked the court if it would be ethical for him to thank the jurors. "Does that include Mr. Burns?" asked one of the Roosevelt counsel. "It includes everybody that has had anything to do with this case," grinned the colonel. The jurors then retired to their room, where the colonel made a speech, expressing his gratitude that "truth and righteousness" once more had prevailed. The 12 men including the motorman, thereupon posed for a photograph with the colonel in the center. The crowd filled the small ante-room and the photographer said his camera was not big enough to take the crowd. "All those who are not my friends," said the colonel, "will please step aside." Nobody budged. "Will everybody but the jury stand to one side?" asked Mr. Roosevelt. The picture then was taken and the colonel with his faithful Bowers departed for the home of Horace Wilkinson, his host during the siege, where he made arrangements for returning to Oyster Bay. In the corridors, in the elevator, on the street, the victor in this most amazing law suit received one ovation after another, paying marked attention to the recalcitrant Edward Burns and Foreman Somers. He then squared off and said: "Gentlemen of the jury, I thank you. This is a typical American verdict. I am more gratified than I am able to express. I am especially gratified because the verdict came from a jury composed of men of practically all political parties. You gentlemen have imposed upon me an obligation which I will never forget and you have performed a service which you never in all your lives will have cause to regret." After court adjourned, John M. Bowers made a statement which Colonel Roosevelt said had his entire approval. "This is all I care to say or authorize to be said on this case," said Roosevelt. Bowers said: "The victory that Mr. Roosevelt has won is a victory for good government. The issue put to the jury was whether machine government or government by the people should prevail, and the latter has prevailed. The article in suit was held by the court to be libelous in two aspects. "First: 'Because it charged a corrupt political alliance between William Barnes, the Republican leader of the state, and Charles F. Murphy, the Democratic leader of the state, in relation to the state government. (This the judge held was the meaning and purpose of the article taken as a whole.)' "Second: 'Because the article charged that the plaintiff had worked through a corrupt alliance between crooked business and crooked politics. The jury were further instructed that they must render a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, unless they found that the defendant established to their satisfaction, by a fair preponderance of evidence, that both charges were true. This burden was successfully borne by Mr. Roosevelt.' "It is impossible to determine at this time the far reaching extent of this verdict for good government. "The verdict certainly assures us that the Anglo-Saxon system of determining questions between litigants is rightly lodged in the hands of a jury of 12 men. "Moreover it determines that jurors holding political views opposed to those held by a party will not be swayed thereby in determining the questions submitted to them. "My associates and I have fully appreciated the responsibility we assumed in advising the course to be taken in defending the action, and it is a source of great satisfaction that the result achieved has justified our advice." After the excitement died down, Foreman Warren W. Somers told the story of the forty odd hours in the jury room. "We took forty ballots," Somers told the International News Service correspondent. "On the first ballot we stood 11 to 2, Edward Burns standing out for Mr. Barnes. The other 11 were for the defendant all the time. "On yesterday morning, when I told the court we had agreed for the defendant, except on the matter of splitting the costs, I was under the impression that Mr. Burns had agreed. Evidently I was mistaken. "From yesterday morning on, we stood the same, 11 to 1. The last ballot was taken today after breakfast, when Mr. Burns came in."

WAR PROCLAMATION READY TO BE SIGNED

King Victor Emmanuel's war proclamation was drawn up in collaboration with the ministry and was counter-signed by members of the cabinet as well as by the monarch. It explains why Italy was forced to resort to arms and appeals to the patriotism of the nation so that victory will be assured. Two other proclamations, one addressed to the navy and the other to the army were drawn up also. By Telegraph to The Freeman. Rome, May 22.—The "war bill" is a law. Italy is one step nearer hostilities. King Victor Emmanuel today signed the measure conferring upon the cabinet full power to act. It went into effect immediately. Parliament has adjourned and the cabinet is supreme. The bill is as follows: "The government is authorized in case of war and during hostilities to make decisions with due authority of law, in every respect required, for the defense of the state, the guarantee of public order and urgent economic national necessities. The provisions contained in articles 243 to 251 of the military code continue in force. The government is authorized also to have recourse until December 31, 1915, to monthly provisional appropriations for balancing the budget. This law shall come into force the day it is passed." Announcement that the king had signed the "war bill" was greeted with cheers from a crowd of 100,000 persons gathered in the public square. A great procession immediately formed, and headed by bands, the crowd marched to the various department offices, cheering for the king, the ministers and for France, England and Russia. A Challenge. The Port Ewen A. C. baseball team would like to challenge any team whose members range in age between 17 and 25. Call up C. W. Card, Port Ewen; manager, William Corbett.

BRITISH BLOCKADE TO BE CONSIDERED

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, May 22.—It became known definitely today that for the present while awaiting the German reply to President Wilson's note on the Lusitania disaster, this government will not modify its policy regarding the actions of Great Britain in holding up non-contraband shipments—although the state department does not acquiesce in the memorandum given out by the London foreign office. In fact surprise was expressed among officials that London should have designated as acceptable to the U. S. government the negotiations and arrangements being made with American cotton shippers regarding the disposition of their cargoes. Secretary Bryan's statement on this point, which indicates that as soon as the German note is received this government will turn more energetically to its problems with Great Britain, says that such arrangements have not had official sanction. The British ambassador's suggestion that this misunderstanding was due to an error in transmission of the memorandum, was accepted, however. The impression today is general in official circles that while this government has in preparation strong protests to Great Britain on the subject of interference with non-contraband over-sea traffic, the administration has definitely decided to mark time as to Great Britain until Germany replies. That the United States is prepared to contend still further against the right of Great Britain virtually to enforce a blockade against neutral countries by detaining non-contraband cargoes for neutral ports is understood. Officials of the state department have taken much interest in the statement issued by the London foreign office regarding the fairness of England's attitude. This statement is interpreted as at least a favorable sign, in that it indicates that Great Britain is giving serious attention to the position of the U. S. as advanced to this date and that arrangements may be made for the more expeditious movement of American shipments. Official Washington is still without official information as to the tenor of the German note, although hints of its probable contents have been received from reliable sources, nor has the state department been advised as to the probable date of its receipt. The note is expected, however, by the end of next week and the administration continues hopeful that it will be conciliatory in tone.

Boy Scouts News. The next meeting of the Boy Scouts, Troops 1 and 2, will be held on Tuesday evening at 7:30 in their headquarters in Holy Cross Parish Hall. As this is the last meeting before the Memorial Day parade, it is essential that all Scouts attend. Dues for May should be paid and reports should be made by those who have been receiving subscriptions for the firemen's convention program. The Scouts have been invited to attend the Memorial Day exercises in the new high school building on Monday evening, May 31.

Rosendale Horse Won. The horse trotting season was officially opened at Rosendale this morning when a horse owned by Luther Deyo the village liveryman defeated a horse entered by a band of gypsies camped on Cornell Hill in Rosendale. The race was run off on the Tillson flats and was witnessed by a large number of the sport fans from Rosendale and vicinity. The fastest heat was trotted in 2:08 1/4. It was said that the race was run off for a purse of $100.

Disorderly Fruit Peddler. Sol Perlman was arrested this morning at the West Shore station by Policeman Hess for being drunk and acting in a disorderly manner. From his actions the officer thought the man was crazy as he became abusive when people refused to buy fruit of him and slammed his basket against them. Recorder Lang gave him five days in jail and in the meantime he will be examined as to his sanity.

Fire Near Fourth Binnewater. During the electrical storm on Friday evening the large barn of William Heinle on the turnpike near the Fourth Binnewater was struck by lightning and destroyed. The horses and cattle were taken from the barn but a number of farm implements and wagons were burned. Six tons of hay in the barn caused a fire and the illumination was visible for a great distance.

Boat for Saugerties. The yacht Messenger began trips between this city and Saugerties this morning. The boat leaves Rondout at 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. and Saugerties at 6:30 a. m. and 1:45 p. m. On Sunday the boat leaves Rondout at 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. and Saugerties at 7 a. m. and 1:45 p. m. Ralph Hendricks is captain of the Messenger with Harry Burhans mate and George Krum engineer.

Paolin-Bonci. This morning Recorder Lang married Miss Loe Bonci and Lazarus Paolin of Brown's Station. The ceremony was witnessed by Rose Mitabell and Nicardo Bralinski.

VANDERBILT ESTATE FACES A TAX TANGLE.

New York, May 22.—That the state of New York would lose at least $1,600,000 and probably $3,000,000 of the transfer tax on the estate of Alfred Gwyn Vanderbilt, who recently lost his life in the Lusitania disaster, was stated yesterday by State Comptroller Eugene M. T. Travis. There is a tangle which may be hard to solve as to Mr. Vanderbilt's legal residence and as to whether he really resided at Oakland, his farm at Newport, R. I., or the Vanderbilt Hotel in New York, may be a question that will be put up to the courts to puzzle out. New York state hopes to prove his residence here through Mr. Vanderbilt's own words. It is said that while the yacht "Wayfarer" was in Newport last summer Mr. Vanderbilt was asked why he did not say he hailed from Newport instead of New York. His reply was "I am a citizen of New York, hence I hail from there." There is much speculation here as to the probable disposal of his estate by Mr. Vanderbilt. He inherited from his father the bulk of the elder Vanderbilt's fortune, though a second son. The elder Vanderbilt was a firm believer in the English rule of giving the bulk of the estate to the eldest son, but passed over his own oldest son, Cornelius, because he disapproved of his marriage. Should Alfred Gwyn Vanderbilt have so drawn his will as to follow that custom, William H. Vanderbilt, his son by his first marriage, will be the greatest "child-millionaire" in the world, for he will inherit the bulk of a fortune estimated at $100,000,000. Mr. Vanderbilt has two other children by his second marriage.

KITCHENER REFUSES TO LEAVE CABINET ITALY'S AMBASSADOR ASSAULTED IN BERLIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman. London, May 22.—Lord Kitchener has refused to retire from the war secretaryship under fire. He has decided to fight his foes to a finish. His friends declared today that Kitchener had the full backing of Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Grey and Chancellor Lloyd-George, the powerful "triumvirate" of the cabinet, and that they had endorsed his intention of staying in office. It was learned today that Kitchener's conference with the premier yesterday was due to the organized newspaper attacks launched against the war secretary. The premier told Kitchener that if he desired another post it would be given him, but that if he would retain the war portfolio he would be given the support of his colleagues. Kitchener is reported to have replied that at no time had he even considered retiring unless the premier desired him to do so. Premier Asquith today continued conferences with various leaders over the make-up of the "new national cabinet." Indications that the crisis might result in the outbreak of a great political squabble are disappearing and the final cabinet details probably will be worked out harmoniously. Evergreen Park Opens Sunday. Haber's Evergreen Park and picnic lodge will be opened to the public on Sunday. The yacht C. A. Shultz will make trips at quick intervals between Rondout and New Salem. There will be an orchestra of four pieces on the Shultz during the day and at the park there will be many forms of amusement including a merry-go-round. All kinds of refreshments will be on sale. The formal opening of the park will take place on Decoration Day with appropriate ceremonies.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Berlin, May 22.—(By wireless)—Signor Bollati, the Italian ambassador to Germany was assaulted on the street last night by a German boy. The ambassador's assailant was immediately arrested and Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg sent his personal adjutant to the embassy to express sincere regret for the incident. The Chancellor's action was followed today by Herr von Jagow the foreign secretary who sent a written apology to Ambassador Bollati. The German press deprecates the attack upon the Italian envoy, calling upon the people to refrain from any demonstration and advising calmness. The attack upon Signor Bollati occurred as he was leaving his residence for an automobile ride. Just as he started to step into the motor-car the youth, apparently about 16 years old, rushed to the side of the machine and struck viciously at the ambassador. Warned by a cry from the chauffeur the ambassador lowered his head and the blow missed him but knocked his hat off. The boy was immediately seized by one of the policemen who have been kept on duty at the embassy and hurried away to a cell. The ambassador continued his ride and upon his return sent a message to headquarters requesting that his assailant be dealt gently with because of his youth. Recital in Peekskill. W. Whiting Fredenburgh, the well-known organist of this city, will give an organ recital at St. Paul's Church in Peekskill next Friday evening. Mr. Fredenburgh will be assisted by Chauncey Main, baritone of this city.

GOVERNOR SIGNS JITNEY BUS BILL

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, May 22.—The governor today signed the jitney bus bill which permits such busses to be operated by the consent of a common council. A certificate of convenience and necessity must be obtained from the Public Service Commission.

FIRE IN ROSENDALE.

Two Barns, With Contents, Destroyed on Friday Afternoon. Friday afternoon about five o'clock a fire broke out in the large barn of R. and C. I. LeFever in Rosendale and soon the entire building was a mass of flames. The barn, which was one of the largest in the village, was located in the rear of Rightmeyer's drug store on Main street. Active Hose Company of the village were soon on the scene but were unable to save the barn and the flames spread to the drug store barn adjoining which was also destroyed. The firemen by hard work managed to save the barn of Harry Axlerod nearby although the building was on fire several times. The LeFever barn was leased by Dory Osterhout, whose five horses were saved but considerable feed and hay was burned. The drug store barn was leased by W. J. Bryan who had considerable paint stored in the building which was destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown but the flames were first seen creeping from the hay loft in the LeFever barn. It was impossible to ascertain if the building and contents were covered by insurance.

HAVE TO WORK WITHOUT PAY

Postoffice Employees Have to Make up for Enforced Vacation by Working Four Hours a Day Additional. As told in The Freeman on Tuesday the United States treasury department has made an order placing four thousand janitors, charwomen and other employees of the custodial department on an eight-day furlough without pay in order to save a small portion of the small pay they receive in order to carry out the Democratic promise of "strict economy" and in Kingston the three men who take charge of the central post office were affected by the order. Two of them have already taken their furloughs without pay and the third man is "enjoying" his at the present time. The "joker" is the fact that while each of the three men have to take the furlough allotted them still they have to work four more hours a day without pay to make up for the time that they were laid off by the government. With three men in charge of the central post office the work has been done in three shifts of eight hours each. Now with one of the three men enjoying his furlough without pay the other two men are forced to work in two shifts of twelve hours each. By this method the government makes its janitors lay off eight days without pay and then when they return from their "vacation" they are forced to work four more hours a day to make up for the time lost in "enjoying" their furlough. This is a fair sample of Democratic efficiency. The three local men affected are David Bush, Myron S. Allen and Peter Greaser. It might be added that this is the first time that any one has heard of a government employee being granted a "furlough without pay".

CARNIVAL OPENS THIS EVENING

The big carnival and industrial exhibition of the Odd Fellows Association will open this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Athletic Field and undoubtedly the carnival will be well patronized this evening. The committee in charge of the carnival are W. T. Norwood, chairman, E. J. Linson and L. D. McLane, vice chairmen, William H. Niles, secretary and treasurer; Arthur Frolich, publicity; E. Otis Van Aken, lighting; Louis Kegler, grounds; Rufus Carle, tickets; William Harris, police; Ernest J. Linson, admission; Sheriff Shultz, F. S. Towne and Louis Kegler, refreshments. The association has left no stone unturned to make the carnival one of the best ever held in Kingston. The free act is of a sensational nature and is given by "Dare Devil Krauser" and is known as the "Dip of Death". There will be daily concerts and the shows it is said are of exceptional quality. Mudof Case Adjourned. Edward Mudof was arrested on complaint of Louis Brien for assault in the third degree. The defendant pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until Tuesday morning. Judge Stephan and Amos Van Euton appeared for the interested parties.

BRITISH TROOP TRAIN WRECKED

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Carlisle, Eng., May 22.—Many British soldiers were killed and 300 injured today in a collision between a troop train and a passenger train on the railway line between Carlisle and Newcastle. The collision was due to a heavy fog. Twelve cars were completely smashed. Physicians and nurses were sent from Carlisle and Newcastle to care for the injured, who were taken by special trains to hospitals in both cities. Thirty-five dead soldiers and civilian passengers were taken from the wreckage after three hours' work, and seventy seriously injured were removed to hospitals. Several of the wreck victims were burned to death when flames broke out, but the fire was finally extinguished and the rescue work continued.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, May 22.—There was a brisk demand for stocks at the opening this morning. War order issues attracted most attention and the greater part of the speculative interest was concentrated in those shares, which made gains ranging from one to over three points. United States Steel Common opened with sales at 3,000 shares from 54 1/2 to 54 3/4, against 53 1/2 at the close yesterday and in the next few minutes the price rose to 55. Bethlehem Steel advanced 4 points to 144 and Crucible Steel 2 1/2 to 31. Gains of one to two points were made in Baldwin Locomotive, Pressed Steel Car, American Locomotive and Lackawanna Steel. The railroad stocks also made substantial gains. Reading moving up 1 1/4 to 145 1/2, Union Pacific 1 to 126 1/4, Erie 7/8 to 25 1/2 and Lehigh Valley 1/4 to 142. American Smelting was the strongest of the copper group, rising 1 1/2 to 67 1/2. Amalgamated Copper gained 1/2 to 66 1/2 and Utah 3/4 to 65 1/2. The stock market closed firm. Governments unchanged, other bonds firm.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Thomas Jordan of this city has been filed with Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court and a citation for its probate issued returnable June 1. The real estate at No. 328 Hasbrouck avenue, this city, is devised by the testator to his four daughters, Marcella, Mary, Ann and Frances Jordan, and the household furniture, etc., is also given to them. The balance of the estate is given to Marcella Jordan in trust, with directions to sell the same within a year and divide the proceeds among his children, Marcella, Mary, Ann, Frances, Albert F., Thomas S. and Daniel J. Jordan. Marcella Jordan is appointed executrix. The will was executed November 24, 1914, and witnessed by Christopher A. Murray and Charles McMillan, both of this city. The value of the estate is $3,700 real estate and $500 personal property. Christopher A. Murray appeared for the executrix.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1249—A Simple, Comfortable Dress for House or Porch Wear.

As here shown, dotted percale in blue and white was used with collar, pockets and cuffs of blue linen. The waist is made in blouse style and with coat closing. The skirt has a wide lap tuck and is gathered at the top. It is cut with ample fullness, and on new lines. The back of the waist is combined with the sleeve, which may be finished in wrist length with a band cuff, or short with a neat turn back cuff. Chambray, kingham, ratine, linen or linene, crepe, poplin or cashmere may be used for this style. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 2 1/2 yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

MILTON.

Milton, May 22.—We learn of the death of Raymond Newman of New York city, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Newman, deceased. The Newman family will be remembered by many Milton people as they lived here for many years. The burial was in Cedar Hill cemetery on Wednesday afternoon of this week. He is survived by his wife and one child. Members of the family of C. M. Woolsey and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lyons attended the burial, as the deceased was a relative.

A. E. Cosman of Newburgh, one of the linemen of the electric light company of Newburgh, called on relatives when working in this vicinity on Tuesday. After this week he will enter upon his duties as an overseer of a grade of men.

Miss Edith Thiells, who went to Dr. Sadler's Sanitarium at Poughkeepsie last week, will probably be operated on this week. Her health has been running down for some time with a trouble the doctors could not fully explain, until an operation was made. Miss Edith has been in a remarkably cheerful state of mind while awaiting her operation. Her mother has been with her and a few friends have called on her, who report her happy manner. Her many friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Susan Rutters, who spent several days in New York city recently, has returned home.

Miss Anna M. Bloomer and niece, Nita Hammond, of Newburgh, spent last Sunday with Mrs. and Miss Rutters.

T. S. Williamson of New York was also a guest of Mrs. Rutters on Sunday.

William Purdy of Yonkers visited at Theodore Rhoades's last Sunday.

Mrs. William DeWitt is reported as improving at St. Luke's Hospital.

William Woolsey, who has been laid up with an injured foot, is getting about the house.

Miss Lauretta Spratt called on Miss Edith Thiells at Sadler's Sanitarium on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wood attended the funeral of Mrs. Wood's relative, Mrs. Alexander Lyons, at Marlborough on Friday last.

Clifford Wood was among the guests here over Mother's Day.

Mrs. Guy St. John of Brooklyn is visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Crowell.

C. S. Northrip was in Poughkeepsie on Monday.

As your correspondent did not write an account of the celebration of Mother's Day, I will now say that it passed off in a most satisfactory manner. At the M. E. Church Pastor Lull gave an exceptionally fine sermon, followed in the evening by a union of the three churches—Presbyterian, Friends and M. E.—at the Methodist Church, at which a mother, Mrs. Bell, of the Friends Church, gave a heartfelt address. The Rev. H. F. Wilke of the Presbyterian Church made an appeal for motherhood and also an appeal for the revival of family altars. Pastor Lull made a special mention of his mother. The Misses Lulu and Rachel Clarke gave suitable recitations and the Choral Society rendered good music. Miss Rosamond Woolsey and Master Romer Woolsey also gave recitations that were very suitable to the occasion. With the beautiful bouquets of white carnations and large branches of white dog wood blossoms, the celebration will be long remembered as a joyous occasion.

The first quarterly conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held Friday afternoon of last week. F. H. Deming, district superintendent, presided. In the evening the 25th anniversary of the Epworth League was observed. The program consisted of two selections on the pipe organ, by Mrs. J. R. Clarke; a solo by Miss Weston of Beacon; a reading, by Miss Rachel Clarke; congregational singing; prayer, by Mrs. A. E. Bell; and an able address by Dr. Deming. Pastor Lull also made an address. During the serving of refreshments, solos were rendered by Miss Weston and Edward Wood. All present had a most enjoyable time.

The probationers class met with the pastor at the parsonage on Tuesday evening. After a talk, full of good advice, by the Rev. Mr. Lull, refreshments were served. The young people report having spent a pleasant evening.

A number of Epworth Leaguers will go to Highland this evening to attend the meeting of the Highland Local Union.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will give a strawberry festival on Saturday evening, May 29, at the home of Mrs. Isaac Conklin.

Don't forget about the concert to be given in Woolsey's Hall on Friday evening, May 28, by the Milton Choral Society, under the direction of the Rev. H. F. Wilke. Watch for posters. This will be given for the benefit of the S. H. H. free library. Admission, 25 cents.

Services on Sunday at the M. E. Church.—Sunday, May 30. Morning worship at 10:30 o'clock. Subject of sermon: "Pentecost." Epworth League devotional meeting at 7:15. Topic: "Are Children in Our Town Getting a Fair Chance?" Leader, Miss Rachel Clarke. Evening worship at 7:45, at which the installation of officers of the Epworth League will be held. Special music and address by pastor on "Enthusiasm in the Milton Epworth League." All are invited to these services.

Proper Education.

Let us teach our children that aggression is selfishness, and that selfishness is a menace to the individual, to the nation, to the world. Let us teach them, too, that holding back what we should give is only selfishness in another form, and that nations must be measured by the standards we apply to men. For nations are only men, after all.—Popular Educator.

SAILING SHIP
SUNK BY GERMAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Queenstown, May 22.—The British sailing ship Glenholm, a vessel of 1,968 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic ocean 16 miles off Berehaven, Ireland, by a German submarine. The crew was landed today.

The Glenholm was bound from Iquique, Chile, to Liverpool, with a cargo of nitrates. The 27 members of her crew were warned and given time to take to the boats when the submarine began firing at the ship. After 29 shells had been discharged the German commander concluded it took too long to sink the ship that way and fired a torpedo.

The survivors, including the captain's daughter, rowed all night in two open boats. The only vessel they encountered was a small schooner which gave them food and a compass.

Gardner and Dodge.

When the Kingston Symphony Society makes such an announcement for its Symphony Orchestra Concert, to be given next Monday evening at the new High School auditorium, it should at once create a musical sensation in this community. The large audience which heard Mr. Dodge play the Beethoven Concerto and again the large audience that heard Mr. Gardner play the Mendelssohn Concerto, will have a full realization of the treat in store for them when they read that Samuel Gardner, American violinist, and Harry P. Dodge, pianist, will play the beautiful Bruch Concerto, a musical work of rare charm. Mr. Gardner as a violinist possessing a most unusual vision of the composition under consideration and the most skillful ability to interpret that vision to his listeners, producing a tonal effect that is exquisitely clear, rich and broad, is daily winning additional laurels in the great musical world. Since his last appearance here he has played before conspicuously notable audiences and has won them completely.

Business Men's Banquet.

The banquet and business men's meeting in connection with the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Eagle Hotel. Both employers and employees will be welcomed to the dinner. The tickets will be fifty cents each. Frank Jewel Raymond, a well-known after dinner speaker, will give an address on "Making Optimism an Enthusiasm." He is an optimist and an enthusiast and attracts the attention of his hearers throughout his remarks. His talk is primarily on the principles and problems of making good in whatever line pursued and he makes good in the telling.

Buy Music Festival Tickets.

The sale of tickets for the three days of the big Spring Music Festival, Monday, the day of the Symphony Orchestra Concert; Tuesday the day when the noted artists will give a miscellaneous program of interest to all; and Wednesday, the day of the giving of Haydn's oratorio of "The Creation," is now going splendidly, and all persons wishing choice seats would do well secure their seats at once. Any persons outside the chorus wishing to own a score of "The Creation," may purchase the same by calling up the secretary, Mrs. Reed, 1012-W. The price of the score is fifty cents.

Hour of Public Rehearsal.

The public rehearsal on Monday, given at the High School Auditorium will begin at 3:30 o'clock, and no person will be shown to a seat during the performance of the Schubert Symphony, the longest work on the program, and the first number. This means that the audience must be on time.

Games by K. of C. Team.

Sunday afternoon the Knights of Columbus baseball team will play the Rhinecliff team at Rhinecliff. On Decoration Day the team will play a double header with the Norfolk Colored Giants at the Athletic Field. One game will be played in the morning and one in the afternoon.

FRED MERKLE PRAISED

Stallings Says Giant Is Player of High Degree.

Much Better First Sacker Than the Jokesmiths Would Have Us Believe—Blamed by the Fans for Many Excusable Slips.

George Stallings is quoted as saying that he considers Fred Merkle a great first baseman.

George is not alone in his opinion that Merkle is a much better man than the jokesmiths would have us believe. If he is punk, it is strange that McGraw has held on to him so long, and has made no prodigious effort to get a substitute. Whenever McGraw has been in the market for a successor for Merkle he has sought one of the brightest stars in that position, and has never considered men of ordinary caliber. Merkle is and has been a good first sacker.

If support for that is desired, ask Jake Daubert. Jake said last spring it was a crying shame the way Merkle has been belittled in the public mind because of the bone play which he was charged with making in 1908. It was a play that 99 out of every 100 ball players would have made, and which would have been forgotten in a week if the National league championship had not depended upon one game.

Heywood Brown of the New York Tribune recently held a conversation with Merkle, which shows just how badly Merkle feels about his mistakes, and how he longs to redeem himself in some sensational manner for his famous failure to touch second. Here is the story:

"Do you get any fun out of baseball?" we asked Fred Merkle, as we caught him in a genial moment following a 240-yard drive down the middle of the course. His grin faded, but then he smiled again.

"No," he said, "I wouldn't call it fun. I have too tough a time out there."

"The fans ride you pretty hard," we suggested. He nodded.

"The tough part of it is," he explained, "that I can't do things other fellows do without attracting any attention. Little slips that would be excused in other players are burned into me by the crowds. Of course, I make many mistakes with the rest, but I have to do double duty. If any play I'm concerned in goes wrong I'm the fellow that gets the blame, no matter where the thing went off the line."

"You act as if you didn't mind it much, the roasts and all the rest of it," we said.

"I try not to," answered Merkle. "I've been 'ridden' enough to get used to it, but nobody's so thick-skinned but what a roast will get under his skin some time or other."

NEW UNIFORMS FOR MACKMEN

Players on Philadelphia Athletic Team to Wear Gray-Green Suits When Away From Home.

Along with the new stars who have left the Philadelphia American football team this year go the much criticized road uniforms of the Athletics. When away from the Shibe park the Mackmen wear costumes of a grayish green, while the old coal scuttle caps have at last been discarded in favor of the more up-to-date ball players' headgear, the cap being white with black bill and stripes.

This is the first time since Mack won the first championship for Philadelphia that there has been a change in the uniform of the Athletics. Mack is more or less superstitious, and he believed that the dull gray uniforms in which the Athletics formerly appeared were partly responsible for the good fortune of his team. For that reason he was loath to change, although his team was often criticized for its slovenly appearance.

Phillies Bound to Profit.

Stock and Demaree have not been showing the same amount of stuff as Adams, the young catcher. Should only Adams make good, the Phillies will still have profited by the deal for Lobert.

Expeditions Seidman a Loss.

It has happened in Lower California that a pearl-fishing expedition fitted out at an expense of over $10,000 returned with pearls not worth $1,000 in all, but the mother-of-pearl gathered nearly pays all expenses in such cases, provided no boat has been lost.

BENSON IN NEW POST HAS WIDE POWERS. HEAD OF NAVY

BUREAU MAY REORGANIZE STRATEGY BOARD.

Washington, May 22.—Rear Admiral William S. Benson, Chief of the newly created Bureau of Operations of the Navy Department has served twenty-two years at sea and is opposed, his friends say, to "rocking chair" officers. He has just assumed his new duties.

In his new post the former commandant of the Philadelphia Navy Yard will have more power and authority than any American Navy officer has possessed except when in command of a fleet at war.

Young Conquerors.

Napoleon said that a man ages quickly on battlefields. Speaking of one of his generals, he said at Austerlitz that Orderen was worn out, adding: "One has a short time for war. I am good for another six years, and then I shall have to stop."

"Strangely enough," says Lord Rosebery in "The Last Phase," "his judgment was exactly verified. Six years and a month from Austerlitz (which was fought on Dec. 2, 1805) would have brought him to 1812, to the Russian campaign, which, if he had observed his own rule, he would have avoided."

When his "star" was eclipsed for ever at Waterloo he was but forty-six years of age, but he had been a broken man in body, and to an increasing extent in mental power, long before. Wellington fought his last battle at forty-six, Ney at forty-five, Nelson at forty-seven. Alexander the Great was only thirty-three when death ended his career of conquest. Hannibal was in his forty-sixth year when he was finally defeated at Zama by Scipio.

A Pair of Eminent Grave Diggers.

The profession have a saying that parts make actors. When the $20,000 benefit to Lester Wallace was given in New York, with one of the historic "Hamlet" casts of the century, the public, of course, expected to see a performance that could never be forgotten because of its all round greatness. There was disappointment for the expectant innocents. All star casts want proportion, and this particular performance of the sublime tragedy was "queer."

For example, Joseph Jefferson and William J. Florence played the grave-diggers, and in their dressing room after Horatio's "there crack'd a noble heart," Mr. Jefferson said to his companion:

"Billy, whose lines were you speaking, anyway?" "Bacon's, I guess," Florence replied. "Perhaps," mused gentle Joe. "I knew they weren't Shakespeare's."—Detroit Free Press.

The Firlihoes.

At Brianza, in Lombardy, there flourishes a very curious sort of band, all the members of which play the same kind of instrument, known as the "firlihoes." This corresponds to what we know as "panpipes" and is constructed of reeds fastened side by side, the bass pipes being often several feet long, while the others gradually decrease in size.

The "firlihoes," as the players are called, after their instruments, are as a rule ignorant of music and they learn their tunes by ear, often from a phonograph. It is said that the pan-pipe players experience all the sensations of intoxication after a march due to the energetic blowing and the constant wagging of the head to and fro. The music, although conveying to the stranger at first a most curious effect, is said to be not unpleasant.—Washington Star.

The March to Mecca.

The great caravan which every year sets out from Cairo for Mecca has a conductor on a camel leading the way. Day and night, whatever the weather is, he remains without any covering, naked to the waist. With him march men with large torches, which are kept alight during the night and illuminate the column of smoke above them, so that it appears a pillar of fire. During the day, when the heat of the caravan is difficult to see on account of intervening hills and burning, so that instead of the light which served during the night a column of smoke indicates to the straggling caravan from afar the direction of the march and the time and place of a halt.

The Professor's Reproof.

During a certain athletic event at a big university the students of a certain professor's class, well aware that their studies had been neglected, were prepared for reproof, but not for just the way in which it came.

At the end of the hour the professor slammed down his book on the desk and exclaimed:

"That's the worst recitation I ever listened to. Why, I've actually done nine-tenths of it myself!"—Exchange.

O'DAY, VETERAN UMPIRE, TO JUMP TO THE FEDS.

Chicago, May 22.—Hank O'Day, veteran umpire and manager of the National League, practically has concluded negotiations for joining the Federal League staff of umpires.

President Gilmore, of the Federal League, said he had reached terms with O'Day on all proposals with the exception of salary, which he expects speedily to settle. Gilmore has had several complaints against two of his present umpires, and it is said that the men in question may be released.

O'Day managed the Chicago Club of the National League last season.

Most Valuable Metal.

In estimating the value of any metal we are apt to consider only the intrinsic money value of a given quantity, and from this view gold is generally regarded as the most valuable metal. But this is a mistaken notion. Value consists not merely in pound for pound money worth, but ought to include full consideration of serviceability and usefulness. Taking these into account, a scientific writer points out that iron is the most valuable metal because of the great service to man. In this respect it is of the greatest value, and the world is fortunate in the great amount of it available.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 22, 1915.

There is enthusiastic support for our pure food laws, but, strangely enough, little attention is paid to what happens to the food between the time it leaves the package and appears on the table. The celebrated "Typhoid Mary" showed what could be done by a germ-carrier holding a job as cook and her exploits have been repeated on a smaller scale all over the land while the doctors have blindly wondered how their patients became infected. The New York Board of Health has been led by such considerations to establish what it calls an "educational lunch room." The cooks and waiters are thoroughly examined at short intervals and are compelled to observe strictly sanitary habits. It is to be hoped that this example will have a noticeable influence. The kitchen of the average hotel or restaurant is not a place in which one's appetite can be stimulated. It might be well to have a law requiring the cook-rooms of public houses to be made visible to the public, just as bar-rooms are on Sunday.

Paterson, N. J., silk manufacturers are being urged to send an exhibition of Paterson-made silks to the fashion show at the Panama Exposition because the paralyzed condition of silk manufactures in Europe opens up opportunities for American made goods whose qualities will be carefully examined by intending buyers. Most of the advice given to American manufacturers since the war started has been to seek a clientele in South American countries which previously had been supplied from Europe, and enlargement of trade in our own country was a secondary consideration. If we are capable of supplying an excellent quality of ammunition to the warring nations, why should we not be able to supply them with other necessities and with luxuries? And if we can supply other nations, why not encourage consumption of our own goods by our own people? American genius is not dead and American manufacturers should not be afraid to solicit the patronage of their neighbors. It may sound bigger to say we supply foreign markets, but in the end does it pay as well? Along certain lines we have adopted the motto "America first." To extend that motto to all branches of industrial activity would not only insure the activity of our industries but would result in a much-needed return of prosperity to the entire nation.

While the United States forces occupied Vera Cruz they cleaned up the town. The streets were cleaned of garbage and the air of noxious odors. Mosquitoes and flies were all but exterminated. The result was a prompt lowering of the death rate. Our soldiers left only a few months ago, but already the city has reverted to its former condition. It appears to be impossible for the native Mexican to keep his surroundings in a sanitary condition unless some one holds a gun or club over him. A considerable portion of the best territory of the globe is occupied by this sort of people, and is made uninhabitable for persons not hereditarily immune from the attacks of disease germs. We can talk all we please of liberty and human rights, but we all know in our hearts that there is no justice in letting this sort of thing continue. Individuals are not permitted to maintain nuisances on their property in civilized countries, and under the same principle nations which maintain breeding places for epidemics should be brought under enlightened control. This is one of the great problems which should be considered in the adoption of a plan for world peace. Unless progressive nations combine to make civilization general single Governments are bound to undertake the task, with the probability of getting into war with other aspirants for the position of tutor.

The suit brought by Alexander Woolcott, dramatic critic of the New York Times, to restrain the Shubert Brothers, theatre owners and managers, from excluding him from their theatre because they did not like his criticisms, has been decided adversely to the Shuberts by Supreme Court Justice Hendrick in New York city. Some of Woolcott's criticisms were favorable and some were not. In the latter case other newspaper critics were found also to have made unfavorable comment. The Shuberts claimed that "No person has any right to enter a theatre, unless it be with the consent of the manager or owner." This doctrine, says Justice Hendrick, carried into practice, would justify any manager in refusing to admit to his theatre, and even after admission to eject, any person without cause or reason except the will of the manager or owner. Such a doctrine he holds is in contravention of the Civil Rights Statute of New York state which gives equal rights to all persons in places of public accommodations, resort or amusement, and provides a penalty for violation. He points out that the statute does not create a cause of action but that it compels with our public policy; that the legislature does not create a cause of action but simply enlarges the remedy. The decision accords with common sense. If a Civil Rights Law means anything, it should be enforced, even against the Shuberts.

FOR HUMANITY'S SAKE.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Tomorrow is set apart as "Humane Sunday" in all the churches that are pleased to observe it throughout the length and breadth of the land, and one is hoping that the chain may be long, the words pouring forth from pulpits very earnest in behalf of unfortunate children and cruelly treated animals, for whom the day is intended.

For while mere words do not ordinarily carry very far and perhaps scarcely reach the most-needed places, one never knows whose may be the mind mightily in need of waking up, whose the heart in need of touching, where the most helpless of all are concerned.

Words do carry afar sometimes, words supplemented by work. As one thinks today of the little folk in the shadow that cruelty casts, remembrance comes of a time when a woman's words and her work counted for much.

It was a fortunate day for abused childhood when a woman—Mrs. Etta A. Wheeler, her name went into a dreary tenement in the dreariest district of New York on a mission to a poor tuberculosis stranger. While lending her aid to the sufferer she was shocked by a child's pitiful cries, pouring out from a near-by room. Inquiry developed the fact that these cries were an every-day happening and that neighbor-folk were powerless to stop them. She tried to go to the rescue of the little victim of someone's rank cruelty, but the door was barred and every plea that she made was answered by curses.

So she went outside, seeking help—police, magistrates, leading citizens, anybody who would help her rescue that child whose cries rang in her ears so pitifully and insistently that she could not sleep. But, do you know, her way was barred just as effectively as was the door to the room where the beatings went on? For there was no law under which to proceed and no one wanted to step in by physical force alone. But at last after talking much and seeing many high dignitaries she secured from a supreme court judge authority to proceed, and the door of the miserable tenement room was forced. There the little rescue party found an eight-year-old girl whose pitiable appearance eloquently, sadly enough told the why for her cries. The poor, bruised bit of humanity was taken to court, and the story of hideous abuse and neglect made folk in authority wake up to the fact that it was high time for humanity to be stirred in behalf of suffering childhood. And the first society for the prevention of cruelty to children came into being, thanks to a woman's earnest words and her activities as earnest.

The story of Mary Ellen has been told many, many times, and in the directors' room of the New York society today hang three pictures very interesting to men and women who like to note the steps toward humanitarian progress. One represents Mary Ellen as she looked in her heartrending plight, about forty years ago, before there was any society to protect and to rescue half-starved, in rags that failed to cover the cuts and bruises, shrinking and afraid of the world. Another shows her as a happy wife and mother, with her own little tads grouped about her; and the third represents the serene, strong face of the woman whose united words and work in behalf of a little scrap of humanity reached out to embrace multitudes of other unfortunate children whom nobody loved.

And, yet, in that same big city of New York about 10,000 children are still surging in and out of the Children's Court in a single year, and in the constant procession not one that does not send out a call to humanity for rescue. Indeed, there is yet room a-plenty for every urge and every activity that may go forth tomorrow, and doubtless there will be room in all the tomorrows through many a year.

And as to defenseless animals—who that walks our streets today, with half-open eyes and mind and heart, can fail to be impressed with the mighty need for ringing words that shall play their part in making individuals and municipalities ashamed, if nothing better, to tolerate cruelties against long suffering animals?

The American Humane Association, which is back of Humane Sunday, rightly enough approves of carrying the sentiment, "Be kind to animals," into the schools and if impressing the young folk there with the duty, the pleasure, the humanity, of serving as protectors of all the helpless under creatures in our beautiful world. For it is certainly true that indifference to suffering does not come into being in one great bound but starts in the springtime of life when only the gracious seeds of love and humanity should be sown. And often a little thought and a little more light turned in the right direction might deviate the course of those who are heedless rather than totally hardened to suffering, whatever the victim, be it the tiniest creature instinct with God-given life.

And a few manly boys and womanly girls, big in all the elements that make for genuine growth, with proper guidance from men and women who hope for the spread of kindness, could mightily help in leading their small comrades away from early exhibitions of traits and practices that we like to believe existed only in primitive man.

This indeed, is an ugly world, viewed by those who abide in the darkness of indifference to any form of life, ugly also to the victims; and it remains for the kindly folk, the folk with humane promptings budding and flowering in their hearts, to shock them wide-awake.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Why have they separated? Can't he support her?" "If you mean support in the sense of endure, no."—Boston Transcript.

He—"I'll trust to time to make you love me." She—"But just think of falling in love with you years after I had lost all interest in you! Impossible!"—Life.

"Smith is one of the most wide-awake men I know." "I thought you said he was not at all enterprising." "Neither is he. He suffers from insomnia."—Baltimore American.

"Society is so shallow," mused the parlor philosopher. "It's a good thing it is," retorted the mere man, "for half the people who are wading around in it would get drowned."—Judge.

"As nearly as I can make out," said the supercilious person, "you are what they call a literary hack." "No," replied Mr. Penwick, "I'm not even a hack. I'm a jitney."—Washington Star.

Gibbs—"So you went after the job? I thought you believed that the office should seek the man." Dibbs—"I do; but this is a fat job, and I thought it might get winded before it reached me."—Boston Transcript.

Patience, observing what other celebrities were doing, presented herself to a manager of vaudeville. "H'm—What," asked the latter, "can you do for a popular and pleasing character?" "Do?" repeated Patience proudly. "Why, I can cease to be a virtue!"—Puck.

Fair Warning.

The lanky youth who occupied a seat in a passenger coach persisted in sticking his head and shoulders out of the window. The brakeman was passing through the coach, and he touched the youth on the back.

"Better keep your head inside the window," advised the brakeman.

"I kin look out the window if I want to," answered the youth.

"I know you can," warned the brakeman. "But if you damage any of the ironwork on the bridges you'll pay for it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An Unruly Pupil.

Representative Timothy Ansberry of Ohio is a talker who penetrates to the deepest recesses of the capitol, and when he speaks the roof reverberates with his booming. A whisper from Ansberry is equivalent to an ordinary man's talking, so the feat of telling a joke in an undertone is one which he will be obliged in future to deny himself.

One day Ansberry was telling a good story to a fellow member in what he imagined was like the voice of Annie Laurie "low and sweet." But it resembled the echoing of distant cannon from the field of Manassas.

The gentleman who was speaking showed his annoyance at the sound and Speaker Clark thumped his gavel. Clark, who was once a school teacher in his days of callow youth, knew just what to do, so he called Ansberry up to the desk.

"Tim," he said in a low tone as he rose to reach that gentleman's ear. "Tim, if you don't stop talking when I am having a recitation I will keep you in during recess."

That was an awful threat. Visions of sitting on a hard bench and writing out 300 sentences in parliamentary law while the other fellows were smoking and joking in the cloakroom rose before Ansberry, who for a while kept so quiet that the silence in his vicinity was audible.—Washington Star.

Parental Pride.

He had become the happy father of twins, and his unbounded pride in this twofold distinctive blessedness found expression on every occasion.

While conversing with a friend one morning at the entrance to his office-building, a young woman passed wheeling a baby-carriage containing a bouncing baby boy.

"Doesn't a woman look queer," said the young father, loftily, "with only one child!"—Harpers' Magazine.

When? Never!

Representative Henry of Texas, apropos of an international alliance that had turned out disadvantageously, said:

"When will American girls learn that you can't judge a book by its title, nor a man by his"—Washington Times.

Three Chances.

A Kansas Judge tells this lawyer story: "An Irish lawyer was attorney for a man charged with murder. Addressing the Judge the attorney said: 'Your honor, I shall first absolutely prove to the jury that the prisoner could not have committed the crime with which he is charged. If that does not convince the jury I shall show that he was insane when he committed it. If that fails, I shall prove an alibi.'—Kansas City Times.

ALDERMEN ACCEPT GENEROUS OFFER

The City to Have a Fine Public Park on Lucas Avenue—Plans to Avoid Street Car Delay at Broadway Crossing.

The common council by unanimous vote on Friday accepted the offer of the Forsyth heirs of Joy's Woods on Lucas avenue for a city park and resolutions of thanks were adopted. Alderman Mitchell was absent.

The Exempt Firemen's Association sent in a communication requesting the use of the upper floor of the municipal building on O'Reilly street during the firemen's convention in June. On motion of Alderman Martin it was granted.

A petition for an extension of sewer through Pine street, between Wilbur and Greenkill avenues, was read and on motion of Alderman Myers the city engineer was directed to prepare an ordinance and plans and specifications in addition to estimate of cost.

An invitation was received from the Knights of Columbus to attend the Fourth of July celebration to be given under the auspices of that organization. On motion of Alderman Jenks the invitation was accepted and the clerk directed to notify the lodge to that effect.

Pratt Post, Grand Army of the Republic, sent in an invitation requesting the attendance of the city officials on the occasion of the observance of Memorial Day and the fiftieth anniversary of the closing of the Civil War. On motion of Alderman McKittick the invitation was accepted.

Mayor Canfield sent in the following communication:

The Mayor's Letter.

The Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York. Gentlemen:

It is with extreme pleasure that I officially inform you of a very gracious civic act upon the part of the Forsyth family of this city, as evidenced by a letter from Ralph K. Forsyth to myself, dated the 20th inst., and hereto annexed. In and by the said letter that beautiful tract of land situated on Lucas avenue a short distance from Washington avenue and commonly known as Joy's Woods and consisting of about 16 85-100 acres of wood and open land, is offered to the city for park purposes as a free gift.

This offering is characterized by that quality of human interest in and toward others that is commendable; and it is an exhibition of unselfishness of character that is desirable for all of us to emulate to our utmost capacity. This gift is great in promise; in its promise of quietude, restfulness and recreation to, and of its vitalizing effect upon, the present generation and those to come. It is within a short distance from the up-town business and residential center. It provides a proper space and opportunity for a normal play life for the children. At the present time the children must play on the streets or trespass upon private property. These conditions hamper proper play. We have a wealth of playground and park possibilities and this gift will give a great impetus to the movement to provide a well-balanced scheme of public recreation in our city. With the establishment of a playground near the Ontario and Western station, and the development of the above park, and the possible extension of the Senate House grounds to North Front street as a park, and the possible use of the Kingston Academy grounds as a beautiful resting spot, adequate park and play facilities will be furnished to the upper part of the city. The same consideration must be shown to the lower part of the city to eliminate the present deficiencies of our public recreation problem.

In filing the annexed offer, for your consideration, I desire to recommend that it be accepted, fully realizing that it is unnecessary to urge you to do so. I further desire to express my official gratitude to those who present this magnificent piece of land to the city, which grant shall always be a tribute to their thoughtfulness and true public and civic spirit.

Respectfully,
PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor.

The Offer Accepted.

Alderman Martin offered the following resolution:

Whereas, it appears from the communication of the mayor and the letter of Ralph K. Forsyth, thereto annexed, that the Forsyth family has offered as a free gift to the city for park purposes, a certain tract of land situated on Lucas avenue in the city and near Washington avenue, consisting of about 16 85-100 acres of wood and cleared land and commonly known as Joy's woods,

Resolved, that such offer be accepted by the city of Kingston and that the city do hereby express its gratitude and thanks to the donors thereof; and be it further

Resolved, that the mayor and the corporation counsel, and the city engineer be and hereby are directed to take up the matter of making all necessary arrangements to obtain and procure title therein to the city; and be it further

Resolved, that the city clerk transmit a copy of this resolution and a copy of the communication from the mayor in reference thereto, to Ralph K. Forsyth, who represents the donors. Carried unanimously.

The committee on ways and means reported that the amortization of existing bonds of the board of education would be treated by Mayor Canfield in his annual estimate. As to the raising of $30,000 for equipment of the new high school, the committee recommended that the board be empowered to raise that amount by bond issue, $14,500 to fall due in 1926 and $15,500 in 1928. The report was adopted.

The monthly report of the city treasurer showing a balance of $14,000, was read and filed.

City Engineer Codwise reported that the special assessments for sewers in Gage street, Second avenue, Hasbrouck avenue and Newkirk avenue had been collected in full, as well as the Hasbrouck Place improvement. Filed.

Bills and claims against the city were read and referred to the committee on auditing accounts. The pay rolls were later audited and warrants ordered drawn for the several amounts.

City Engineer Codwise reported an ordinance for a sanitary sewer through Hemlock avenue and Van Gaasbeek street. On motion of Alderman Schick the ordinance was adopted.

Corporation Counsel Brinnier reported that he had collected $123.15 costs of the L. F. Bannon Company against the city and enclosed check. On motion of Alderman Schick the work of the corporation counsel was commended and the money directed to be turned over to the city treasurer.

James V. Simpson filed consent to have two per cent deducted from his salary as policeman to be placed to the credit of the police pension fund. Filed.

The accountants who have been examining the books of the city clerk and city treasurer submitted a number of blue prints of changes in the system of the city's accounting. Referred to ways and means committee.

The following resolutions were then introduced:

By Alderman Schick, that Garden street be scarified, trenched and rolled between Foxhall and Hasbrouck avenues. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Jenks, that the street superintendent repair guard rail on Fifth street. Referred to street superintendent with power.

By Alderman Moyle, that the board of education be requested to give use of land in front of high school for reviewing stand during the firemen's parade on account of the fine condition of the city hall lawn. Carried.

By Alderman Leverich, that warrants for collection of unpaid taxes be extended twenty days. Carried.

By Alderman Schick, that the city engineer prepare plans and specifications for sewer in Hemlock avenue and Van Gaasbeek street. Carried.

By Alderman Myers, that an incandescent light be placed on Cedar street between Prospect street and Clinton avenue. Referred to ways and means committee.

By Alderman Leverich, that the street superintendent place crosswalks at Crane and Grove streets. Referred to street superintendent with power.

By Alderman Leverich, that an incandescent light be placed on North street near Hutton's brickyard. Referred to ways and means committee.

By Alderman Martin, that the street superintendent fill holes on Washington avenue near Taylor street. Referred to street superintendent with power.

By Alderman Martin, that the mayor, corporation counsel and railroad committee confer with the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company with a view to eliminating the long delays at the Broadway crossing so that all cars can be run through the Colonial subway. The resolution was referred to the committee on ways and means.

Nathan Shuler made an address denouncing as his right as an American citizen that he be not taxed for a license to peddle during the firemen's convention. The matter was referred to the law committee.

The council then adjourned.

County C. E. Convention.

The twenty-third annual convention of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union will open on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church of Elmsford street and will remain in session until Tuesday afternoon. The address of welcome on Monday afternoon will be given by the Rev. R. C. Dadds, pastor of the entertaining church and the response will be made by Alexander Johnston, president of the union. An interesting paper will be read at the afternoon session by Miss Jennie A. Van Hoesen of Saugerties, the county junior superintendent, and the question box will be in charge of Harold A. Waite, the field secretary of the state. At the evening session the address will be delivered by the Rev. F. O. Beldon of Mount Vernon, the vice-president of the state union.

County Court on Monday.

The May term of county court will convene at the court house on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Judge Jenkins presiding. There are twelve cases on the civil calendar.

PORT EWEN.

136. Evening worship at 7:30 o'clock. Subject of sermon, "Who is your Lawyer?" The pastor will preach at both services and the choir will render appropriate music.

Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout, pastor—Bible school at 9:30. George W. Shultis, superintendent. Morning worship at 10:30. Subject of sermon, "Man's Greatest Need is Christ and the Church." 7:30, Epworth League anniversary. Special music.

Miss Kathleen Whalen was tendered a surprise party Thursday evening in which a number of her friends enjoyed a very pleasant evening in card playing and numerous other games. All departed at a pleasant hour, declaring Miss Whalen a delightful entertainer.

Peter Tucker is greatly improved under the care of Dr. Mark O'Meara. Austin J. Grimes, who has been spending a few days at his home, has returned to his position at Albany.

Many out of town folks attended John McLaughlin's funeral. Little Rosemary Prendergast is improving under the care of Dr. George W. Ross.

There will be a special meeting of the Epworth League in the chapel on Sunday, May 23, at 2 p. m. promptly. Sunday being our anniversary, business of importance is to be transacted. All members should make a special effort to be present at this meeting.

HAROLD A. WAITE.

Harold A. Waite, field secretary of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union, will be present during the Ulster county convention, to be held in Kingston, May 24th and 25th. During the first three months of his position as field secretary, Mr. Waite has visited forty countries, travelling about 5,000 miles, touching 142 towns and cities, reaching 509 Christian Endeavor Societies, addressing 139 meetings, and leading 63 conferences, all of which were attended by 15,000 Christian Endeavor members.

At the Ulster county convention, Mr. Waite will conduct workers' conferences and school of methods both days, but his main address will be Tuesday afternoon.

This is Mr. Waite's third visit to Ulster county since September, and all who heard him previously will surely avail themselves of the new opportunity of hearing this young man with great enthusiasm for the cause he represents. Mr. Waite has a wide vision of the mission of Christian Endeavor, and has a large faith in the young people's ability to fulfill that mission. He has a pleasing, forceful and convincing manner and speech.

K. A. Alumni Election.

The Kingston Academy Alumni Association met on Friday evening in the study hall of Kingston Academy and elected the following officers: President, Miss Eloise Myer; vice-president, Edgar N. Palen; secretary, Robin Stelle; and treasurer, Harry S. Ensign. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance at the meeting was small and it was decided to hold another meeting on Thursday evening, May 27, at 8 o'clock at the academy. Plans for the coming reunion and banquet of the association were talked over but no definite date was settled upon. The reunion, however, will be held during graduating week in June.

Towill Case Again Adjourned.

The trial of Douglass Towill of West Esopus, charged with assaulting Melvin Stewart of West Park, which was to have been held on Friday before Judge McKenzie's bar of justice has again been adjourned by consent of both parties to June 1.

Don't Feed Up Your Profits Any Longer Into Idle Horses

Government statistics prove that horses work less than one-third of the time on the average. But they eat every day—you have to feed them all the time, when idle as well as when working. That's why it costs more than twice as much to plow with horses as with an Avery Tractor.

A Tractor eats nothing when not working. And even when working it costs less than to feed horses. Records kept by men who have replaced horses with Avery Tractors and Plows show a saving of over half the expense of horse plowing and a big saving in expense on other farm work.

There are three reasons why Avery Tractors and Plows are such a wonderful success. Only one man or boy is required to operate an Avery Plow Outfit. Avery Tractors are the lightest weight tractors built considering their draw pull. They are also the simplest and most durable tractors built.

WOMEN FAVOR ALIMONY CHANGE

To the amazement of the members of the Constitutional Convention and of the newspapers of the country, Judge Clearwater's suggestion to the judiciary committee of the convention that in abolishing imprisonment for debts in civil actions, they abolish as well imprisonment for non-payment of alimony in actions of divorce, meets with the almost universal approval of the prominent women of this and other states.

At a recent hearing before the judiciary committee regarding this proposed amendment, the judge said that he regarded imprisonment for non-payment of alimony as a relic of barbarism for the reason that the state of New York treated marriage as a civil contract, not as a sacrament, and its dissolution by a decree of divorce was the abrogation of a contract at the suit of one of the contracting parties who, if a woman, was entitled to and was granted a judgment directing her divorced husband to pay to her an amount of money fixed by the court granting the decree, for her support. That not infrequently the alimony was not paid, and ran up to a considerable amount. There were recorded instances in the reports where a woman after permitting alimony to aggregate several thousand dollars, married again, and then when her husband thereafter married, she immediately had him locked up in jail for non-payment of the alimony in arrears.

The judge said that a man was required to support his minor children whether he was divorced from their mother or not, and that a refusal or failure to support the minor children was a crime punishable as such and properly punishable by imprisonment, but the failure to support a divorced wife was a breach of a civil obligation. He also remarked incidentally that women who locked up divorced husbands under the circumstances he had described did so as a matter of pure vindictiveness. His fellow members of the judiciary committee laughingly told him that his life for the residue of the sessions of the convention would be made miserable by the various women's clubs and organizations of the country. He said he didn't think so.

William R. Hearst agreed with the judge's colleagues, and instructed the reporters of the American to interview a number of prominent suffragists, anti-suffragists and club women of New York city regarding the matter. To the astonishment of the American, they all agreed with the judge. Not only did they agree that a divorced woman should not compel a husband whom she had divorced to support her, but further agreed that if she locked him up for failing to do so, she was vindictive. That so long as she was not divorced she could compel him to provide for her, but that if voluntarily she severed the marriage obligations, and declined to grant to her husband his marital rights and privileges she ought not to receive money from him. The New York Tribune, commenting upon Judge Clearwater's proposition, says that the views of these women are a surprising development of feminine logic, but that notwithstanding they are entirely contrary to what it was anticipated a woman would say, they seemed to be supported by good sense. The judiciary committee of the Constitutional Convention agreed with the judge, but said they hesitated to invite the anathemas of the feminine world by putting his views into the constitution. Apparently instead of anathemas they would receive congratulations should they adopt them.

Shocked.

The French Alpine Chasseurs are especially trained for work in the mountainous borders of France. That they learned their lessons well was conclusively shown in the recent battle of Hartmannswillerkopf, when they not only drove the Germans out of their strongly fortified trenches but held these important lines against desperate counter attacks of the greatly reinforced army. The picture taken shortly after the capture of the heights of Hartmannswillerkopf shows these nimble Frenchmen consolidating the taken positions and smilingly waiting the attacks of the German reserves, which they know is bound to come.

The Bersaglieri, Italian light infantry, are the fastest foot-soldiers in the world. The usual march-step is what is known to ours and other armies as the "quick-step" and the amount of ground they can cover in a day and still be in good condition at the day's end is said to be almost incredible when considered with the distance other armies can cover. This speed on foot, however, is not sufficient for the advance scouts, who have specially constructed bicycles and equipment such as shown in the picture.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 22.—Packy McFarland is afraid to meet Mike Gibbons and Mike Gibbons is afraid to meet Packy McFarland. That's the only conclusion one can draw from the absolute failure of matchmakers to get the two Irishmen into the same ring.

Neither can offer the excuse that the purse offers are insufficient. Nor can they offer any other real excuse. Both men have been guaranteed $10,000 each for 10 rounds—exactly $333.35 a minute. That's the highest offer ever made to any fighters who were not champions. Tom Andrews, backing a Milwaukee club has made that offer? A New York syndicate that wants to stage the match is willing to duplicate it. But Packy and Mike won't get together. A fine pair of Irishmen—nit!

Billy Gibson discovered a gold mine when he grabbed off Jim Coffey some eight or nine months ago. Gibson, who had just quit his job as matchmaker for the Madison Square Garden recognized hidden genius in the big, lumbering Irishman. He took him under his wing, hired a few fellows to teach Coffey ring science, groomed him and then sent him against the best heavyweights in the game.

Coffey today ranks head and shoulders above all heavyweights except Jess Willard. He is a tremendous drawing card, and Gibson now can dictate his own terms for Coffey's appearance in the ring. He's set his finger at $10,000 per fight. Unless Coffey meets some set back he will get a chance at Willard. If he loses to Willard it will mean that Coffey will have earned more than $100,000 while under Gibson. And Gibson will get a nice slice of that. Should Coffey ultimately win the heavyweight title it will be worth at least $500,000 to him—and Gibson certainly will get $100,000 of that. Quite a nice discovery for Gibson, eh?

"Wanted, at once; several dozen star football players. Apply Coach Cavanaugh, Dartmouth University." That's the kind of advertisement the Hanover institution is thinking of inserting in the papers. Graduations will wreck the 1914 Dartmouth eleven and will also take a large number of the best substitutes. The freshmen team of 1914 didn't develop any real players, there are only a few players of any worth in the sophomore team of last season, and, all in all, things don't look a bit rosy for Dartmouth in 1915.

Hugh Jennings won't let any of his players, other than pitchers, do any "warming up." "Ty Cobb's ambition to become a pitcher nearly ruined his arm" said Hughes. "He used to spend most of his practice time shooting the ball to the catchers, putting so much stuff on it as he could. That practice hurt his arm. When Cobb came into the League he had an arm that was more powerful than any outfielder in the business. Trying out curves robbed it of some of its power and you can bet on it that I won't let any of my other infielders or outfielders hurt their arms by trying to throw curves."

A fellow named Olmstead, who has a legislative job in Michigan has earned the undying enmity of the golfers in the Wolverine State by trying to put through a bill that would make Sunday golf illegal. He would have a fine of $25 slapped onto all persons who indulge in the game on the first day of the week.

Olmstead seems to have the peculiar idea that a person should spend all of Sunday in church and that getting a bit of recreation on that day through the playing of golf is wicked.

Olmstead has about as much chance of getting his bill through as Jack Johnson has of reclaiming the heavyweight championship—just that much, and no more.

Our Champion Golfer.

Landlord Hungerford, of the Eagle Hotel, leaves on Monday to attend the meeting of the American Hotel Association in Cleveland, Ohio. The party will go by special train over the Lackawanna road and a feature of the trip will be a championship golf match in Buffalo on Tuesday. Mr. Hungerford has commanded a complete assortment of golf clubs and sticks and other weapons of the links from Frederick H. Sanford and announces that he intends to win the championship by swatting the ball clear over into Canada at the very first swat. The Canadians will probably think they are undergoing a German bombardment when that ball lands.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

Maple Hill

Mrs. Ehrmar has opened her cottage. Mrs. Joseph Rhodes and son, George, and daughter, Gladys, are stopping at the Newark Cottage.

Joe Rhodes spent one day with his wife, who is stopping at the Newark Cottage.

William Ehrmar and sister have returned home after spending a few days with their mother at the Newark Cottage.

Joseph Rhodes is going to build a bungalow on the lot he bought from Christopher Kallou.

Seamore Yunker visited Kingston one day this week and bought a brooder for his little chickens.

The sheriff of Newark and son, the chauffeur, motored to Maple Hill one day this week and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. George Ehrman at Newark Cottage.

Orlando J. Wheeler took a party of friends from Newark through the cement mines one day this week. The party consisted of R. B. Smith, of Newark; and son, R. B. Smith, Jr. John Ehrman, Charley Snyder and Toney Ehring.

Owen Mooney was seen driving through this place, exercising his trotter.

Mr. and Mrs. Dinnebell are up in their cottage for the summer.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Harring in their loss of their husband and father. Mr. Harring was a resident of this place a few years ago.

James Crawford and brother, Joe, spent a few days with Mrs. James Crawford this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford were callers on Mr. and Mrs. William Steinhilber one evening this week.
